

Ken Kline, Hometown Hero

“I take pleasure in helping people help themselves”

Meet your neighbor,
Ken Kline.

For more than 45 years,

Ken has been an essential part of the Brunnerville Fire Company.

And while that’s just a number to Ken, it clearly shows the dedication he brings – and the satisfaction he receives – in doing something meaningful to build a better and safer community.

“Over the years I’ve seen many serious situations that could have been prevented,” Ken recalls. “I take pleasure in helping people help themselves by bringing fire prevention awareness to kids, families and older folks .”

Ken is in the business of making his neighborhood a safer place to live. And he enjoys working alongside the fire department. They’re more than just a team. They’ve become family.

Perhaps you’d like to get involved. Ken and his fellow volunteers hope so. Your hometown fire and ambulance companies need you. And the need is now.
