Breanna Shenk, Hometown Hero

"I do what I do because it's my passion."

Meet your neighbor,
Breanna Shenk.

At the Rothsville Ambulance Association, Breanna is constantly preparing for emergency. By sharpening her skills and continuing her education, she is equipped to help at a moment's notice.

As a certified Emergency Medical Technician, Breanna is always prepared for whatever is needed. "It's quite the adrenaline rush," she says with a grin.

Volunteering as an EMT comes with a commitment and lots of responsibility. For Breanna, volunteering is giving her the satisfaction of helping her neighbors. "I've learned skills that could save someone's life.

"I do what I do because it's my passion. Volunteers are always needed. Find your passion and help out in that way."

Without Hometown Heroes like Breanna, volunteer fire and ambulance companies wouldn't be able to do their jobs of saving lives and protecting property.

Consider volunteering today. There's no obligation.

Everyone needs more heroes these days. You could be one.
